Update: The November dates for this event have been cancelled due to technical difficulties with the Wi-Fi. We want to thank all the attendees who purchased tickets, as well as the room sponsors who supported the event and tried to make the event happen. Please check back for the next installment of the highly-anticipated Science Hack Day on April 25th, 2018! Update 2: Due to unforeseen circumstances, an unexpected move on the part of the venue, and a series of unforeseeable delays, the November dates for this event have been cancelled. After months of intense pre-planning, the second annual Science Hack Day SF is coming to San Francisco on Friday, November 17. SFSC is partnering with the Civic Center Center for Public Science to bring Science Hack Day to the streets, at the Civic Center. We are also partnering with The Exploratorium, Exploratorium's online store, and some of the most exciting startups in the Bay Area including 500px, Bowery Presents, Five Dials, Hourglass, Indie Garden, Lob, OneUp, Superfruit, and Souq.org to bring the world's best game designers, hackers, and problem-solvers to your neighborhood. We're thrilled to be partnering with LIFT Labs and the PACE Research and Intervention Center to bring the Science Hack Day community to the hands of underserved youth. Look for the Superfruit app to release with 10 winners (based on age and gender). We have been overwhelmed by the enthusiasm of the community and the amount of support we have received from our partners. We thank each of you for your contributions to this event and for your trust in us. We look forward to showing you why this event is going to be the best of the year! We can't wait to meet you. We hope to see you there. – THE HACK DAY ACADEMY TEAM Find out more about Science Hack Day, including all official and partner details, here. Chinese Beef Yields to a Multitude of Questions By Julie Hyman Sept. 8, 2012 1:33 p.m. ET BEIJING—A series of tests last week brought China closer to being able to report true beef yields—the most important measure of the nation's meat-production power—for the first time. But there still are questions to be answered about how to measure and report beef yields, according to industry officials and a published report. The industry is aiming to produce at least 100 million metric tons of meat this year, up from an estimated 90 million tons last year. But...Q: How to make a button with rounded edges and scrollbar? I want to make a button-like thing but with rounded corners and a scrollbar. So for example, I have a button like this: button_round.png This is how I want my button to look. There's a nice example here. I don't need anything special about the text, it's just the background image that makes it look like a button. How do I make this? What is this called, and is it doable with CSS? Or do I need to do this with the Java Script? A: The normal button is not possible with css. As the background images are loaded from the server you will not get any nice smooth rounded corners. It would be really easy to make a div with rounded corners, but if you are looking for a cool button look, a normal button with a background image in the background of the button itself is the way to go. The best solution I can suggest is to do it with an image... but if you are trying to get it as a full screen button, it's not really a solution... Anyhow, here is a bit of css to get you started. It is better to use images to make it clearer, as the css rules itself are complex: button_rounded.png /* fonts are not supported in css */ div.button_round { position: relative; border-radius: 50%; border: 1px solid #000000; overflow: hidden; background-image: url(button_round
